

Change Course or Deep Dive: Assignment Five

At this point you have to make a tough choice:

Either start over with a blank sheet of paper or narrow your target job list to two choices.

- Outline a detailed plan for doing more research (including in-person interviews) for your two target positions, or indicate that you are starting over.
- If you are starting over: create a list of the top three core disciplines that you might want to master. Immediately begin researching which companies offer training in these disciplines.